Jahiliyya

The meaning given by many people to the term jahiliyya is "the time prior to Islam". While the time prior to Islam is called Jahiliyya restricting jahiliyya to the time before RasulAllah (saw) was sent is a huge mistake which opens the doors to even bigger mistakes.

Jahiliyyah literally means ignorance. Technically, it means an ignorance of monotheism and divine law and absence of religious guidance as a result of which corruption dominates the life of a given people. The word Jahiliyyah refers to two things that are combined in this period: jahl (ignorance) and jahaalah (foolishness).

The term denotes any government system, ideology, or institution based on values other than those referring to Allah.

In his talk on verse 50 of Surah al Maidah "Then what the judgement of the jahiliyya they desire? But who is better than Allah in judgement for a people who are certain [in faith]". Sayyid Qutb said: Jahiliyya [...] is the rule of humans by humans because it involves making some humans servants of others, rebelling against service to God, rejecting God's divinity (ulahiyya) and, in view of this rejection, ascribing divinity to some humans and serving them apart from God. [...] People—in any time and any place—are either governed by God's shari'a—entirely, without any reservations—accepting it and submitting to it, in which case they are following God's religion, or they are governed by a shari'a invented by humans, in whatever form, and accept it. In that case they are in jahiliyya. (Fi Dhilal al Qur'an)

The term jahiliyya is mentioned 4 times in the Qur'an.

In Surah Al-i Imran the term is used in the meaning of ignorant system of belief.
