Women Elders Offer Their Vision For Our Planet is a book that shares the wisdom of women elders from around the world. These women have a wealth of knowledge and experience to share, and their insights can help us create a more just and sustainable world.

The book is divided into four sections: Earth, Water, Air, and Fire. Each section features essays by women elders who share their perspectives on the importance of these elements to our planet and our lives. The essays are both personal and poetic, and they offer a unique glimpse into the minds of some of the world's most respected women.

The women elders in this book come from a variety of backgrounds and cultures. They are Indigenous leaders, environmental activists, spiritual teachers, and healers. They have all witnessed the challenges facing our planet, and they offer their wisdom and guidance on how we can create a better future.

One of the most striking things about this book is the diversity of perspectives that it offers. The women elders come from all over the world, and they have a wide range of experiences and beliefs. However, they all share a common goal: to create a more just and sustainable world for future generations.

This book is a valuable resource for anyone who is interested in learning more about the wisdom of women elders. It is also a powerful reminder that we all have a role to play in creating a better future for our planet.
